To Allot Higher City Pay If Sales Tax Passes

Sedalia councilmen agreed, in their regular pre-council session Monday night, to allot $100,000 for pay increases to city employes if the proposed city sales tax is approved.

Distribution of the funds would be based on recommendations made by council committees which handle the affairs of each

According to City Clerk Ralph Dedrick, there will be no blanket pay raise for each city employe. Instead, raises would be given on an individual basis.

During the regular council meeting, the council approved an amendment to the existing fire ordinance — allowing city fire crews to go to an industrial fire within a five mile radius of the city.

In order to obtain such fire protection, however, each industry within the five-mile circle would first have to sign a contract with

Should city fire equipment be used to fight a fire at an industrial site within the designated area, the ordinance stipulates that the city would be paid $300 or $100 per hour of such use, whichever is greater.

According to Mayor Jones, the fees charged would depend on the amount of time city fire equipment would be at a fire.

If firemen worked two hours, for example, the fee would be $300. If they stayed at an industrial fire for four hours, the fee would go Previously, Jones stressed, it had been illegal for city equipment to leave the city limits. Now, however, "we can give protection to State Fair Community College, Olin Conductors" and other firms, he said.

City fire equipment could also be used at educational institutions, which would be exempt from the payment of fees.

Councilman George Dugan, Jr.'s, motion that a study of his loading zone plan be presented at the next council meeting was also approved.

Commends Police Action

Just before the City Council adjourned its regular session Monday night, Mayor Jerry Jones commended the Sedalia police department for a raid carried out at two North Side business places Sunday morning.

And, following Jones' comment, the council revoked the restaurant license of one of the places involved. Based on a suspicion of prostitution, police raided the Guys' and Gals' Club and Sportsmans' No. 2. Nine persons were taken into custody, two were charged and both of them forfeited bonds totaling $300 in police court

Jones said, "I and the members of the council would like to commend the Sedalia police force for their actions taken in connection with the incident this past Sunday morning."

After the statement, the council revoked the restaurant license, purchased only a few days prior to the raid, of the Guys' and Gals' Club.

Jones said Tuesday he was referring to the raid.

all existing loading zones; the establishment of new zones for which businesses would be charged on a per-foot basis, and exemption of the area in front of the Fox Theater, Bothwell Hotel and Burkholder's, Inc.

In the latter case, the exemption is being granted since the firm has no other loading area available due to the partial collapse of the Peters Building on West Second.

The council also passed an ordinance declaring the results of the Aug. 4 election when a 20-year electric franchise for Missouri Public Service Co. was approved. Then, it approved an ordinance authorizing a contract with M.P.S.C. for 10 years for the installation and maintenance of street lights. The ordinance also sets the fees for various types

The city's liquor laws were also beefed up Monday when the council approved an amendment to the present ordinance forbidding the sale to minors of intoxicants, and non-intoxicating beer, by bar employes.

Previously, the ordinance simply stated that the person holding the license for such a business could not sell intoxicants to minors. The amendment also makes it illegal for minors to drink intoxicants in a bar, regardless of who made the sale or the purchase.

Routine council action included:

Approval of curb and guttering at 1608 East 14th; paving of Warren from 11th to 14th the appointment of Franklin Arnold to the fire department to replace Robert McPhearson, who retired Aug. 15; approved placement of a fire hydrant on Thompson Blvd.

The council also approved installation of 16 mercury-vapor lights, one at Ninth between Crescent and Arlington; 13 in Southwest Heights; and two to replace those at 24th and Councilmen also approved a request to rezone 2118 and 2120 East Broadway from RI (residential) to CIII (highway business). There was no opposition.

Curb Vote Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Edward Brooke, launching a third Senate assault to curb the Safeguard antimissile system, says the outcome will be so close absentees could determine victory or defeat.

The Massachusetts Republican won an agreement from his colleagues Monday for a final vote on the issue Wednesday.

The agreement barred Safeguard backers from trying to table the preparation of the same of the s

The vote is scheduled one week to the hour after a more restrictive amendment sponsored by Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., was voted down, 52 to 47.

The Nixon administration opposes the Brooke amendment on grounds it will cost more money than expansion of the system.

The administration also has announced it has placed the entire Safeguard system on the bargaining table at the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks with the Soviet Union, offering to scrap the whole plan in return for Soviet reductions of offen-

Contino Recalls His Past

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) - Dick Contino is one of those household names of yesteryear, cata-pulted overnight into America's most famous accordion player in the last hurrah of national radio show broadcasts.

They called him "the Yankee Clipper of the accordion," comparing his skill in music with that of baseball's then Yankee Clipper, Joe DiMaggio.

For week after week he stole the show on the old Horace Heidt Talent Show, a coast-tocoast Sunday night broadcast which ran in the same class for popularity as "Your Hit Parade" and "Stop the Music," and claimed audiences as fiercely loyal as Lawrence Welk does today.

It may come as a shock to those who think of the pre-television era as long in the past, but Contino has only just turned 40. And he still makes a living at squeezing the accordion.

But after years on the whistle-stop entertainment circuit, or playing in and out of Los Angele' Contino has returned to his hometown, Fresno, with his pretty wife, three children and pet mouse Josephine.

Nixon's Asian Doctrine Creating Anxiety

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's year-old policy aimed at shrinking the nation's military posture and foreign aid programs has created anxiety, bewilderment and skepticism throughout Asia, diplomatic sources say.

Japan, meanwhile, is said to have emerged as a reluctant beneficiary of the so-called Nixon Doctrine, which was spelled out by the President on Guam in August of last year.

Ranking Asian and American officials in 10 countries from Japan to Pakistan commented in doctrine.

There is agreement that Tokyo's prestige and influence has soared as non-Communist Asia, faced with declining American involvements, looks to Japan to fill whatever gaps the departing

Americans may leave. The prospect of a greatly expanded role has somewhat alarmed Japanese leaders who now are urging the United States to go slow in carrying out the deAmericanization program in Southeast and Northeast

The Japanese would much prefer to be strictly an economic partner while the United States continues to shoulder the major security burden for the region. American officials-stung by congressional criticism that U.S. sacrifices have succeeded in making Southeast Asia safe for Japanese investment-are calling on the government of Prime Minister Eisaku Sato to take on more responsibility, particularly in stepped up aid to Vietnam and Cambodia.

The Nixon Doctrine has been met by considerable skepticism in India. It is not clear, say Indian authorities, exactly what is meant by the Guam declaration. On one hand, there is the reduction announced for U.S. ground forces in Vietnam, Korea, Thailand and the Philip-

On the other, they say, it is the U.S. desire to get these countries to build up their own ground combat forces, in pursuance of whatever international policy the United States wishes.

Consequently, the Indians argue, there is no American withdrawal under this interpretation, but merely a change in the composition of U.S. and allied forces.

India's foreign policy makers, who keep an uneasy eye on mainland China, hope and expect that Hanoi will be the most powerful single factor in any grouping of Southeast Asian nations after the Vietnam war is

The Indians say Hanoi is willing to allow South Vietnam a separate existence, although it may not last for very long-perhaps five or ten years.

The Indians say they would go along with a coalition government imposed on Saigon from the outside, because it would be impossible to hold free elections under the present conditions.

In Vietnam, the Indian view of a coalition is vehemently rejected on the ground that the government cannot choose to share its power without popular sanctions.

An election in which the national Liberation Front could participate, however, has been

The Saigon government has taken a matter-of-fact attitude toward the Nixon doctrine and the Vietnamization program.

Officials point out that South Vietnam has built up its armed forces from 900,000 to close to 1.1 million men who are supplied with guns and ammunition by the U.S.

But who is going to pay for the salary and the maintenance of these men when the level of U.S. financial aid remains static?" it is asked. Decreasing U.S. forces mean less revenue at a time when Saigon must spend more on combat operations and they expect the U.S. to pay the difference. At the same time, high American officials have pointed out that Japan is selling Vietnam three times as much in consumer goods as the United States. U.S. officials have asked Japan to do more for Vietnam's economic rehabilitation than so far offered.

The most anxious American ally under the Nixon Doctrine has been South Korea, where the government fears that a reduction of U.S. forces will lead North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung to miscalculate and attempt to reunify Korea by force.

American officials see little chance that Kim would risk such a move unless an opportunity such as the lapse of the present government or its replacement by a weak regime suddenly offered an opportunity with very little risk.

'It is up to us to see that this does not happen," commented one American diplomat. Nevertheless, South Koreans want to see their armed forces modernized and their air defenses and sea defenses greatly improved before the United States starts to withdraw the first 20,000 of some 61,000 troops.

The angriest reaction to current U.S. policy is in Thailand.

According to Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman "uneasiness does not come from implementation of the Nixon Doctrine. The uneasiness is caused by the present struggle between your executive and the legislative branches and the erratic behavior of some of the congressional elements.

"Many people in the world, not only in Asia, question the steadiness of U.S. policy," he American authorities say there will be further scaling down of U.S. forces in Thailand as units are identified t no longer required.

In Japan, Japanese leaders are speaking of "task-sharing" with the United States maintaining its bilateral security commitments with Korea, Taiwan and the Philippines and Japan's role contributing to social stabil-

American officials say Japan also is in a position to provide limited military assistance not in the form of guns and weapons but in the form of such common use items as trucks, communications equipment and heavy construction equipment.

Savings Competition Likely To Continue

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) —The developing competition for the ordinary American's savings dollar is not likely to abate for some time to come, but just how much the ordinary American will benefit isn't clear.

True, in banks all over the nation he is being enticed into opening new accounts with all sorts of merchandise, and someone with the desire and time to keep, let us say, a dozen small accounts revolving can pick up a houseful of goods.

But all these gifts serve to obscure the fact that the return on savings accounts, the interest rates, are frozen at levels that barely keep pace with inflation. That's the real reason for the premiums.

Nevertheless, some recent developments do indicate that perhaps the future is improving for America's small savers and investors, who have suffered from discriminatory practices during recent years.

Brokers who scorned small accounts during the great vol-ume days of the late 1960s may very well be reconsidering, now that volume has dropped off to a level inconsistent with profits.

At least some investors who had been ignored by brokers have lately been receiving those little "From the desk of . . ." reminders with the timid suggestion, "Time to invest now?" Maybe they need the little guy after all.

One of the more unexpected inducements to small investors came with congressional passage of a bill designed to raise to 5½ per cent from 5 per cent the interest rate on government savings bonds held to maturi-

This is the second one-half point increase in a year, and finally brings the rate to a level at which the small investor can at least stay abreast of inflation. As it was, he was losing.

So also was the federal government. For 20 straight months, redemptions exceeded purchases of savings bonds. Some bonds acquired under payroll deduction plans were redeemed almost immediately. depriving the government of funds and forcing it to run up big bookkeeping expenses.

Another development meant to entice the small investor and his funds is a change in the nature of savings and loan institutions, which to date have offered investors little more than a repository for their funds.

Beginning in mid-September, these institutions may offer bill-paying plans that some observers suggest may be the forerunner of checking account services such as offered by commercial banks.

the Tate murder trial, testifying for the 16th day, said on the stand Monday that she kept quiet about the murders she'd seen because "I was afraid maybe Charlie would kill me and kill my little girl.'

Fear for her baby, Tanya, then 11/2, began as she fled down a grassy slope from the actress' mansion a year ago.
"Again I had a vision, yeah, sort of a vision, and Charlie entered into my head and Tanya was there and I was sort of afraid for Tanya's life," Mrs. Kasabian said. At the time Tanya and Manson were at the ranch where Manson's hippiestyle group lived, she said.

At the bottom of the hill, she said, she lay down in the grass to catch her breath and thought of reporting the murders, but didn't.

"I was afraid. I thought police were pigs ... I was afraid everybody would say I was crazy and maybe Charlie would kill me and my little girl.

Earlier, she said, another "vision" came to her as she watched mortally wounded Wojieiech Frykowski stumble from the house. Frykowski was one of five persons killed at the Tate

"All of a sudden I saw within myself what Charles Manson was doing and that he was leading myself (sic) into self-destruction," she said. "I felt he was the devil."

Mrs. Kasabian, 21, began her testimony about the visions under recross-examination by Ronald Hughes, attorney for Leslie Van Houten, 20. She and Manson, 35, are on trial with Susan Atkins, 21, and Patricia Krenwinkel, 22, charged with murdering Miss Tate and six others, including a Los Angeles couple killed the night after the Tate slayings.

Hughes elicited testimony that the witness believes she is "an emissary from God," on a mission to show the world that Manson is "the devil" and a "false prophet."

Mrs. Kasabian added, "I don't think I'm an angel. I know I have a lot of imperfections, so I don't see how I could be."

In redirect examination, Deputy Dist. Atty. Vincent Bugliosi resumed questioning on the young mother's fascination with Manson and her earlier belief he was Jesus Christ. She learned his philosophy, she said, during dinner discussions with Manson's "family" at the Spahn Ranch.

As the group ate, she said, Manson would do most of the talking. "He talked about the ego and the soul. That the ego should die and the soul never knows the word 'no' or 'don't.' . . . Once he said Jesus Christ and the devil were in one body, something like that . "He used to say, never ask

why. And he would add, love will never die."

Epidemic

More than 5,000 children and adults, some of them fainting as they lined up in mid-90 temperatures, received diphtheria shots Monday.

If formally confirmed, the new cases will hike to 28 the number of diphtheria patients recorded here since Aug. 1. Two children have died.

Officials declared an epidemic last week in this city of 750,000. So far, more than 10,000 have been immunized.

"It is foolhardy for anyone to go beyond a five-year period for obtaining his booster immunizasaid Dr. William Ross. head of the Metropolitan Health District.

The five-year limit for adults marked an increased requirement, up from the 10-year repeat booster recommended for adults in normal circumstances.

Ross renewed his call for school districts here to require diphtheria shots. He said as many as "two-thirds of the school-age children are classified as susceptible to the disease.'

The largest school district here announced a drive to provide free shots and spokesmen for two others indicated similar action may be considered.

He said healthy, immunized individuals can be carriers of the disease, "so we will continue to have cases of diphtheria and can expect to have them as long as there is a susceptible individual in the county.

Dr. Marthalyn Green, head of the communicable diseases division for the health district, called for more volunteer nurses. She said about 85 would be needed. More than 40 registered nurses had volunteered by late Monday, officials said.

Dr. Green predicted 30,000 persons would obtain free shots this week.

The fainting and fatigue in the long lines Monday prompted health officials to move the main immunization center to the air-conditioned municipal auditorium, beginning today.

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Nixon's signature has given him some authority he didn't request and doesn't want-the power to control prices, rents, wages and salaries.

That's a provision of a bill extending the Defense Production Act, which Nixon approved Monday.

Congress empowered the President to invoke controls at levels no lower than those prevailing last May 25, even though he had said he wouldn't use the devices.

"If Congress believes," he said, "that price and wage controls are needed in today's economy, despite all the evident disadvantages, and against my strong recommendations, it should face up to its responsibilities and make such controls mandatory.'

The lack of black faces in the Navy is one of the biggest drawbacks to recruiting. Only two black Navy officers are assigned to the Pentagon. Patridge says prospective Negro recruits ask why there aren't more black faces around.

Another factor hampering recruiting of black officer candidates is the battery of exams.

"It's the same exam for everyone," says Toney, "But he's competing with 99.9 per cent middle class whites. And let's face it-their pace is just faster than ours.'

It wasn't until 1968 the first Navy ROTC program was established on a predominantly Negro college-Prairie View in Texas. More are planned at other schools.

The Navy also is knocking at congressmen's doors on Capitol Hill, trying to impress on them the need to increase the number of Negro Navy Academy appointments to Annapolis where 52 blacks are now enrolled.

Although Patridge and Toney say the Navy has finally shown awareness of the need and problems in recruiting Negroes and other minority group members, they complain of what they de-scribe as foot-dragging and the lack of response to their needs by some top ranking officers.

SWEET SPRINGS - At an emergency meeting Monday night of the Community Hospital membership, Dr. H. J. King, D.V.M.; chairman of the board of the hospital, announced that the final payment due Aug. 31 on the pledged hospital bond was not on hand, and that the hospital had been operating at a loss for months.

Dr. King said that indebtedness amounted to $38,750, and that many members of the nursing and administrative staffs had been working overtime to keep the 31-bed hospital open.

He suggested several alternatives to be offered at a public meeting Aug. 31 in order to keep the 10-year-old hospital going: sell shares to new members at $100 apiece; make up the deficit through gifts and memorials; turn the hospital into a nursing home, or sell it to privately-owned hospital

The 31-bed hospital gained state-wide recognition when this community of 1,400 raised $125,000 to match Hill-Burton funds, available through the federal government. Operated by Dr. Charles Worley, M.D., and Dr. Paul Roberts, M.D., the hospital serves patients throughout the Sweet Springs area and surrounding communities.

Four Sedalia men, suspected of possessing narcotics, were taken into custody by Sedalia police at 3:20 a.m. Tuesday, but were released later when the pills in their possession were found to be not on "the dangerous drug list."

Court David Hopkins, 18, 1115 South Emmet, and Issac Warren, 22. 1102 East Broadway, charged with stealing over $50, were bound over to Circuit Court following their preliminary hearing Tuesday morning.

The two, both of Sedalia, were arrested by Sedalia police July 25 in connection with the theft of a cigarette machine from Kenney's Laundromat, 910 Thompson Blvd., the night of July 3.

The machine was recovered from Muddy Creek by police. Missing were cash and cigarettes valued at $35. The value of the machine was placed at $90. Sedalia police records clerk Clarence Harrell testified in the preliminary hearing that both youths had signed confessions admitting they took the cigarette machine July 3.

They are presently free on $2,500 bond each.

Louis Shoemaker, Jr., 1112 East Seventh, charged with tampering with a motor vehicle, was bound over to Circuit Court following his preliminary hearing Tuesday morning. Shoemaker allegedly hot-wired a school bus belonging to Bill Greer Motors the night of July 29 and drove it some distance before being arrested by the Pettis County Sheriff's Department. In a signed statement made by Shoemaker, according to Sheriff Emmett Fairfax, the defendant said he took the bus

so he could go to Kansas City to get some dynamite, but then drove it back to Sedalia "so he could be put in jail and meet some new people. Shoemaker is presently being held in Pettis County jail in lieu of $1,000 bond. Larry B. Brown, 21, Florissant, Mo., scheduled to have a preliminary hearing on charges of possessing narcotic drugs, is presently in a federal hospital in St. Louis suffering from highly infectious viral hepatitis. Pettis County Prosecutor Henry Keeler said Brown's preliminary hearing would be postponed until the doctor declared him fit to travel. Brown was arrested July 11 along with Steve A. Steele, 17. also of the St. Louis area, after the Highway Patrol discovered three duffle bags of freshly cut marijuana in their panel truck. The pair was stopped near the intersection of East Highway 50 and Route C. Steele was bound over to Circuit Court after his preliminary hearing July 30.

City Bids Studied By Panels

City Council committees currently have several bids under consideration, among them a bid for paving 21 blocks of city streets.

Of the request for bids, the largest response came for bids on corrugated metal pipe which is needed by the Street and Alley Department and the Sewer Department.

Bidding on the pipe were Furnell Lumber Co., $2,517.90; Osage Building Supply, $2,527.38; Hermann Lumber Co., 2,480.48; DeLong's, $2,894.14; Home Lumber Co., $2,730; S. P. Johns Lumber Co.,

The council also received a bid from Continental Paving Co., Kansas City, to put down a seal coat on an estimated 21 blocks of city streets.

The firm bid $6,346.89 and, should the bid be accepted, would have 30 calendar days in which to complete the work. The bid compares to $5,876.75, which City Engineer

Robert Cunningham estimated the project would cost. All bids were referred to committees, which must choose the best and lowest bid.

students who attended Girl's State and Boy's State this summer under Rotary Club sponsorship gave reports on their week-long educational experiences to members of the Rotary Club of Sedalia on Monday noon at Hotel Bothwell.

Miss Jane Helvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Helvey, 1201 South Garfield, Sedalia, was elected to the Girl's State mythical State Senate, and appointed adjutant general during her week session held on the Stephens College Campus, Columbia. Peter Healey, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Healey, Route 4. Sedaia, was elected a state representative to the Legislature during his week at Boy's State held on the Warrensburg campus of Central Missouri State College.

Both agreed they learned more about the functions of government then they had previously learned in normal school training and they commented on the smoothness of the operations because of the willingness of the young people to make the sessions productive. Both agreed that attendance was a high point in their lives and the sessions produced a great impact on their beliefs and values and on the patriotism they felt for their flag and country.

The program was arranged by Floyd Priddy, who presented the speakers. The meeting was presided over by Aubrey Case, club president.

The Rev. Denis Craft, social chairman, announced the annual Rotary picnic will be held on Monday evening, Aug. 31, at the West Shelter House in Liberty Park. It will be a contributive picnic dinner with the meat and drink furnished by the club

Dear Ann Landers: As a reader who has been annoyed by your strong advocacy of an active sex life as part of every marriage (even in the golden years), it affords me great pleasure to quote to you a REAL authority who does not

Professor John F. Cuber of the Ohio State University Sociology Department says a sizable percentage of happily married people consider sexual activity either unimportant or a negative matter. Dr. Cuber claims many a marriage starts out with sex a normal part of it, but atrophy sets in, due to pressures on both sides. Women are preoccupied with the rearing of children, domestic help is hard to find, and sheer fatigue erodes the excietment necessary for thorough sexual satisfaction. The husband's business worries diminish his interest in sex simply because he does not have the energy.

Dr. Cuber said many normal people regard sex as a bore and a nuisance, but a necessary evil. He claims a sexless marriage can be very rewarding providing there are other compensations. What do you say to THAT, Ann Landers? -Windy City Reader Educational opportunities for which the federal government picks up a large part of the bill - are broader than ever before for Vietnam or post-Korea veterans. With the possible exception of a course of study in billiards, practically every option is open.

You may study full or parttime, attend day or night school, even take correspondence courses. Courses of study may range from elementary school to postgraduate opportunities. You may take co-operative courses, combining full-time school with alternate phases of training in a business or industrial establishment. Apprenticeships or other on-the-job training is covered if it leads to a recognized occupational objective.

You may take farm cooperative training provided you pursue an agricultural course in school at least six hours a week at the same time you are working in an agricultural job relevant to that agricultural Full-time medical, dental and osteopathic internships and residencies are considered educational programs when pursued in specified accredited hospitals if they lead to identified educational or professional objectives.

In principle, avocational and recreational subjects are not covered. But courses which are avocational or recreational in character may be approved if you "submit justification showing the courses will be of bona fide use in your present or contemplated business or occupation.'

If you served at least 18 months on active duty since January 31, 1955, you are entitled to 36 months of fulltime education support.

But you must have completed your active duty obligation.

Otherwise, if you have served at least 181 days on active duty. you are entitled to one and a half months of full-time education support for every month of active duty since that January 31 date.

If you attend school part time you receive less aid per month, but you are entitled to more months of aid.

Tighten Up Security

Amateur Sherlock Holmes' are resorting to all sorts of inductive or deductive reasoning about solutions to the mysterious daytime slaying of a young wife in her home in west Sedalia.

The tragedy is a shocking one in a community ordinarily unassailed by such acts of brutality. Speculation by novices as to the cause will serve no practical purpose while law enforcement authorities are probing material aspects of the case. Indeed, too many vague conjectures merely stimulate a potential atmosphere of community insecurity.

If any persons have substantial information that may be of value to the investigating authorities they should contact the latter immediately rather than bruiting it about on the streets.

Preceding the daytime murder several instances have come to light of the peculiar behavior of persons prowling around residential neighborhoods at night. Here again speculation has been rife as to whether the rambling rovers were drunk or doped up either as a loner or a fugitive on high from one of the hedonistic communes reported hereabouts. Mainly these incidents have generated only mild concern.

But now with a daytime murder of a housewife in her living room, the Sedalia community is shaken up to intense concern. The reaction suggests the people take more adequate safety precautions around their premises against intrusion by persons whose mission may be everything from mischief, to robbery, rape or murder. Letting them in the front door on the pretext of selling merchandise or using the telephone for some phony purpose is a dangerous practice for a woman alone at home. Take the message through a locked door and tell the person seeking entrance that you will relay his message to the police station.

Precautions such as these against intrusion from the outside are logical, even though they could not have been taken by the young woman who was slain Saturday. She must have been taken completely by surprise as she turned a key in the lock and entered the house where the potential murderer awaited her in the living room.

The police alert system continues to have merit if the people will report peculiar behavior of strangers in a neighborhood day or night. An ounce of precaution by everyone is worth a pound of remorse after some tragedy occurs.

Poor Homeless By Urban Renewal

WASHINGTON - By turning urban renewal projects across the country into "removal projects" in which the poor are driven from their homes, the federal government has been guilty of brazen lawlessness

This startling charge is made in a still-confidential report funded by the Ford Foundation and entitled "The Legal Lawbreakers."

The 60-page document makes it clear why the ghetto poor have rebelled at being uprooted by new highways, apartments and schools which the city fathers piously promised would furnish them a better life.

The study was prepared by the Citizens Advocate another expose, "Our Brother's Keeper: the Indian in White America.'

The new report shows that in some cases "renewal" has forced the poor to live without shelter under bridges and in open fields or in tenements more rat infested than their previous

All of this violates federal laws requiring that if U.S. money is used in a project, the displaced householders must be moved into thoroughly inspected, "decent, safe and sanitary" buildings.

The study cites instances where inspectors in Kansas City, Kans., "inspected" dwellings as they drove by in a car. In Pulaski, Tenn., 18 houses listed as available for the poor did not even exist. In St. Louis, the local urban renewal officials soothingly assured the Department of Housing and Urban Development that displaced persons were moving to decent new homes. But a random check showed 23 out of 24 resettled residents in "substandard housing." At Yerba Buena Center Project in San Francisco, 4,000 people were ordered out of their homes. Twenty hotels were listed for "reaccommodation," yet the Human Rights Commission found only two rooms in the hotels that were "both vacant and also passed code regulations." The order is now under appeal.

-U.S. Shares Blame-

The draft document says the federal government cynically ignores, and sometimes even ratifies violations.

In Sacramento, a "hobo jungle of shanties" sprang up to house people driven from their homes. Others "sought shelter under bridges, in basements of old houses and by burrowing under the sidewalks.

The horrifying document is based on affidavits by displaced citizens, on crusading newspaper stories and on formal studies. Never before has the

In rare cases, groups such as the NAACP Legal Defense Fund have stepped in to block "Negro removal projects." In Pulaski, for example, the original urban renewal plan would have destroyed 52 dwellings, 51 of them occupied by Negroes.

Clark School Urban Renewal Project in Selma, Ala., originally drew a demolition line between a white section and a Negro section. The houses were equally run down, but only the black residents would be removed.

Two cotton gins were in the way of this project. One was white-owned, the other was the only blackowned gin in Alabama. The black gin was scheduled for "renewal" out of existence. The white gin would survive. Later both gins were included and the whole program is now being challenged.

The controversial report states that during the families were kicked out of their homes compared with 48,585 whites.

The Citizens Advocate Center finds some solace in Secretary of Transportation John Volpe's refusal to give federal funds for highways until he is assured there is decent housing available for the

But it finds no cheer in HUD's continued winking at the law. The Center sees no chance for real change until displaced people get solid decisionmaking powers and an iron-clad grievance procedure.

-Nixon's Mail Heaviest-

President Nixon's mail counters have proudly notified the White House staff in an internal memorandum that during Nixon's first 18 months in office he received as much mail as President Johnson received during his entire time in office.

.. The President received 4,567,483 letters and cards and 429,308 telegrams, 4,996,791 messages in all. This is at least a million more pieces than the total received by President Eisenhower during his entire eight years in office. It is approximately the same number that President Johnson received in all the time that he was in office..." the memo

Paper Power

Washington, D.C., is not only the country's foremost manufacturer and consumer of red tape. With its myriad of government agencies, the city also ranks first as a producer of waste paper.

This unsurprising fact is revealed by an outfit called Capitol Reclamation Corp., which ought to know. It buys approximately 1,825 tons of canceled government checks from the General Services Administration every year and was recently awarded a contract from the Government Printing Office to buy 800 tons of scrap paper a month.

Your last income tax refund check,, if you got one, may even now be enjoying a second life as writing or printing paper, tissue, a carton or part of a building, roofing or insulation product, among other things.

More than 11 million tons of waste paper are being reclaimed for industrial use in the United States today, says Capitol - 11 million tons not burned to add to air pollution, not buried, not left to blow around in the street.

The figure sounds impressive but it is only 20 per cent of the total raw material supplied to paper and paperboard mills. That percentage is expected to increase sharply in the years ahead, however, to meet the soaring demand for paper and paper

Another fact to warm a conservationist's heart: For each ton of waste paper reused, 17 trees do not have to be cut down. This means that some 190 million trees - nearly one for every American are being saved annually through paper reclamation.

O.K., So Women ARE Equal

Gals Gain but What Is Lost?

By DON OAKLEY

"Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account

Such is the tersely worded but sweeping text of the equal sexual rights amendment passed by the House of Representatives after 47 years of male-chauvinist dillydallying.

While the amendment has yet to be seconded by the Senate (though easy passage is expected there) and by the legislatures of 38 states before it becomes the law of the land as the 26th Amendment to the Constitution, legal experts are already worried about the possible ramifications of the act.

"It will open a Pandora's box of legal complications," warns eminent Harvard law professor Paul Freund. "The amendment expresses noble sentiments, but I'm afraid it will work much mischief in actual application.'

What kind of mischief?

Every provision in the law which has a sexual basis, every statute dealing with the manifold relations of men and women in society, would be transformed into a constitutional issue that would ultimately have to be resolved by the Supreme Court, says Freund.

Such laws include those designed to protect women from heavy or hazardous work and limiting their working hours; an immense and varied body of laws governing divorce, child support and inheritance; laws setting the age of consent, which is lower for women than for men in 30 states.

Using this one example, the Wall Street Journal asks: To make things equal, should these states lower the age for men or raise it for women?

Others, with tongues not entirely in cheek, suggest that under the amendment, expectant fathers could demand maternity leave, women would be liable for the draft and divorcees' incomes would be subject to alimony deductions to support ex-husbands.

The more militant women liberationists, like those who recently sexually integrated a for-men-only bar in New York, will say that's fine. In fact, they are eager to assume such liabilities and responsibilities. The sillier objections they dismiss as typical male persiflage.

Not all women are liberationists, however, and not all of them feel oppressed because there are such things as menonly clubs and bars. (It can also be guessed that even the most ardent female equalitarian would not graciously welcome the male who demanded the right to take a shower in the ladies' locker room of the YWCA.)

Which is to say that there are certain fundamental, inescapable differences between men and women and that to label them all as "inequalities" and to attempt to legislate them away is like passing a law giving women resonant voices, thus making them equally eligible for jobs as radio

Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., one of 10 female members of the House, deliberately abstained from voting on the amendment because she fears it will strip women of too many protections she considers necessary and val-

It remains to be seen whether she represents a "silent feminine majority" which will rise up and make itself heard when the issue comes before the several state legis-

As Freund says, the amendment expresses noble sentiments. Its basic justice cannot be denied.

But neither can its mischief-making potential be blinked

In the old days, we used Saloon. Today it is the lastchance filling station. At bridge, there are many last-chance situations. It didn't always pay to take a drink at the Last-Chance Saloon but it is mighty good policy at the bridge table to avail yourself of that last chance.

West opened the king of clubs and continued the suit. If he had shifted to a diamond, there would be no story but West did continue clubs. South ruffed and led a heart toward dummy. West played the four, dummy the queen and East the nine. East's duck was a good play. He was going to have to play his ace next but, if his partner held the jack, East had hopes of something good happening.

South drew trumps with four leads and led a second heart. West played the seven and, after long thought, South went up with dummy's king. East produced the ace and South had to lose two diamonds and another heart for down two.

"How could I tell" asked South. "West had stuck in a vulnerable two-club overcall. He just had to have the ace of hearts."

It was likely that West held the ace of hearts, but that didn't justify South's play. It was all a matter of that last chance.

South was not going to make his contract if his king of hearts held. He would make that trick but would still have to lose two dia-monds and the ace of hearts. His only chance to make the contract was to play dummy's 10 and knock out the ace. Not much of a chance but the only one he

High Interest Rates Here for Long Stay

By CARLTON SMITH

You've been waiting for interest rates to go down before you finance a new car, or start that home improvement project, or borrow money to buy into uncle Harold's drugstore?

If so, you have a long wait ahead of you, warns one highly regarded economist.

Optimistic voices in Washington have been promising that we'll see inflation brought under control and interest rates subsiding in a matter of months, or even weeks. Not so, says economist Tilford Gaines, who sees an imbalance in our economy that "probably will take several years to work itself out. The bleak outlook is based on his analysis of the causes of our soaring rates and recent "credit crunches." Gaines, who is vice president and economist of Manufacturers Hanover Trust of New York, one of the nation's major banks, finds deeper causes than the usual popular villains - simple inflation and the enormous outlays required by the The optimistic view is that once stern measures break inflation's back, and we get the war wound down, interest rates will fall. But in fact, says Gaines, our troubles started a good many years ago and are now so interwoven into our economy that any quick cure is highly unlikely.

Briefly, his argument is that the United States went through a long period of slow and orderly economic growth through 1961. Thereafter everybody began spending money like drunken sailors - consumers, business and government. Gaines documents the history of the spending binge in a long analysis, but it comes down to this: All of us went along blithely spending money we didn't have, "all in good faith but all resting upon the assumption that unlimited credit would be available as needed to finance everything we wanted to do.' That was the big mistake. There isn't, says Gaines, any such thing as an unlimited supply of credit. "We are learning that credit is a limited

Consumers, when there's a pinch, can cut back substantially on their use of credit - and they have. But business and industry and federal and local governments are committed to long-term programs. Their commitments, and their continuing needs, result in continuing pressure on the funds available for financing their operations.

These backlogs don't go away. They keep building up. Interest rates in the United States are at the highest levels in a century, and probably (adjustments being made) in our entire history. And, for whatever plans you can make for the near future, you'd better learn to live with them. The backlog of credit demands that has been building up since about 1962, says Gaines, "suggests interest rates will remain high for a long

Drinking Too Much Beer Can Damage the Liver

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D. Q - Can too much beer cause ulcers, liver

A - Prolonged use of any alcoholic beverage in large amounts can cause cirrhosis of the liver. There is growing evidence that in time it will also damage the heart, pancreas and brain, not to mention the increase in accident proneness. Q - What are the good points and bad points of drinking beer? What is the safest alcoholic beverage? A - Beer is a mild relaxant. In moderation it often helps persons who are underweight to gain but other foods are better for this purpose. One 12ounce bottle of beer contains about 0.7 ounces of alcohol. Persistent heavy consumption of beer can lead to alcoholism. Rather than speak of the safest beverage, it is better to speak of the safest blood alcohol level - not over 1-100th of 1 per cent.

Q — What effect does alcohol have on a person past 50 who has high blood pressure? A — When first consumed, alcohol causes a slight rise in blood pressure, followed shortly by a fall and a feeling of relaxation but don't rely on it to cure your high blood pressure. Q - Would drinking eight ounces of whisky a day

A - This amount of whisky contains about 31/2 ounces of alcohol - surely, not a harmless amount. Q - One is said to be intoxicated when the blood alcohol level reaches 10 per cent. Does this mean that everyone whose blood level is 10 per cent or higher would be drunk? A — Your liberality exceeds all human bounds.

At a blood level of 1-10th of 1 per cent (not 10 per cent), you are staggering drunk and your speech is slurred. At one-half of 1 per cent, you are in a

Q - Is alcohol a nervous system stimulant or depressant? A - Although often referred to as a stimulant, it is a depressant. The confusion arises from the fact that, as the more the brain centers are depressed and one relaxes, he may feel exhilarated. Q - About how much alcohol must be consumed by a man who weighs 150 pounds to give a blood level of 0.15 per cent? A - About eight ounces of 90-proof whisky, if consumed within an hour or less.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q) I just got a letter from the local IRS office asking me to bring in my records on deductions. Can the fellow I got to prepare my return come with me?

A) Yes, you may have the person who prepared your return come with you for the audit interview. Remember, however, that you are responsible for the accuracy of all items on the return.

Cancelled checks, receipts and similar records are most helpful in establishing the nature, date and amount of the expense claimed. Taxpayers who keep adequate records have little trouble when their return is examined.

How to Keep Nice Pleats In Fiberglass Draperies

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY-I would like to tell Mrs. S.H.Y. how I keep the pleats in my fiberglass draperies. While they are still wet and hanging on the line, I shape the tops of the pinch pleats and hold each together with a clip clothespin. While draperies are still a bit damp I hang them on the rods, shaping and creasing the folds to hang straight down and attaching more clothespins along the creases. Leave these on for two or three days and the draperies should hang in nice folds from then on.-MRS. C. C.

DEAR GIRLS—Mrs. E. P. suggested always using plastic clothespins. Wood pins (particularly old ones) might stain the fabric.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—Mrs. S. H. Y. could buy door bell plastic-coated wire, cut into pieces about four inches longer than the width of her draperies. Run this wire through the hems of the curtains, pleat and bend the wire at the bottom to the shape of the pleats. You will be surprised at how beautifully they hang. (Polly's note—if this wire is left in the curtains do be is left in the curtains do be sure to remove it before the next washing and then reinsert it.)—MRS. F. D. C.

DEAR POLLY—Mrs. S.H.Y. should soak her fiberglass draperies in mild, sudsy water until the dirt is loose, then rinse. Swish them up and down and do not wring. Hang up wet. When almost dry, hang at the windows, fold pleats (top and hem) together and tie a narrow strip of soft cloth loosely around the folded drape in several places up and down the length. Let them hang for a couple of days.—M. L. M.

Missouri now has two bodies of water in which fish are potentially dangerous to fishermen. The Department of Conservation has cautioned fishermen against eating bottom-feeding fish — catfish. carp, buffalo and carpsuckers from the Nishnabotna River in the northwest corner of the state until an investigation into pesticide pollution is completed.

The other stream with potentially unsafe fish is Crooked Creek near Troy, a small tributary of Cuivre River where a spring pesticide dump killed 349,000 fish. Malathion and chlordane were the culprits in that incident

The Nishnabotna investigation by Dr. James Whitley of the Department's Water Quality section was touched off by a report from Dr. Robert L. Morris of the Iowa State Hygienic Lab that the river is contaminated with dieldrin, a so-called "hard" pesticide, in the Iowa part of

In Missouri, the Nishnabotna runs through Missouri in the extreme northwest corner of the state, just west of Highway 275. There are about seven miles of the lower end of the river in Missouri before it enters the Missouri River.

Steve Kramer, Atchison County conservation agent, frequently finds pesticide drums floating in his area's streams. He located one 25gallon barrel of 2,4,5-T (a herbicide) in the Tarkio river about a mile east of the Tarkio airport. The drum, which had several gallons of residue remaining in it. was sealed and

But the name of the addressee had been scratched out, indicating a deliberate dump. "There's quite a bit of practice from that bridge," Kramer says. "It just happens they didn't shoot this

He also found nine five-gallon containers of such chemicals as dieldrin and malathion floating in the Nishnabotna River on one float trip. "A couple had no lids on them," he says. "They just had the pouring spout sticking out."

Kramer also has found pesticide drums floating in the Missouri River.

Two Missouri streams have suffered recent fish kills. Cedar Creek, which forms the border between Cole and Boone Counties, suffered a fish kill Aug. 8 from a dose of acid from an abandoned strip mine area on the stream's headwaters.

This is a long-standing situation which could be remedied if the 2,000-acre mine area is included in the proposed Cedar Creek section of Clark National Forest.

In another fish kill, low oxygen water from the low-flow pipe at Stockton Reservoir killed an estimated 20,000 fish in three miles of Sac River during late July.

The Corps of Engineers dam has a discharge pipe at the bottom of the dam which operates during dry conditions to keep the river flowing. The water from the lake bottom is cold and has little oxygen.

Quarterback, Intangibles Could Make Difference

ST. LOUIS (AP) - How will the 1970 version of the University of Missouri football team compare with the 1969 Orange Bowl team that was 9-2? The consensus of some of the Tiger coaches, including head coach Dan Devine, is: a lot depends on the quarterback and intang-

"It is a tough time of the year to analyze a football team," Devine told newsmen attending a Friday luncheon in St. Louis in noting that practice doesn't get underway until Aug. 22.

made clear that one of the big question-marks is at quarterback. The position was vacated by Terry McMillan, who graduated and left behind a passel of passing records.

Devine said Chuck Roper, a 180-pound junior from the St. Louis suburb of Brentwood, and Mike Farmer, a 190-pound junior from Jefferson City, are being counted on to fill the void left by McMillan.

Neither Farmer nor Roper played enough behind McMillan to letter. In addition, Farmer sprained an ankle and Roper separated his right shoulder in spring practice. Devine said he must assume that both of them now are in good shape and ready to play. Another uncertainty is the extent to which 208-pound defensive end Mike Bennett will be available. Bennett, who played spring drills by a foot ailment.

outstanding football in the Tigers' 10-3 loss to Penn State in the Orange Bowl, was bothered last season and again in Devine said the ailment had been diagnosed recently as gout, a condition that he said can be treated successfully.

Devine said that other factors on the minus side were the loss of the No. 2 place kicker, Ricci Stotler, because of inadequate grades and the loss of Mike Jeffries, who decided to concentrate on basketball. Devine said Jeffries, was an outstanding prospect as a tight end.

But there are a lot of plus factors too, including Devine's record for turning out winning games, lost 34 and had eight ties in 15 years.

He said the return of Rocky Wallace, a 217-pound senior who played less than one half last year because of a pulled hamstring muscle, should add tremendously to the defensive line. Wallace, a tackle with a knack for invading the enemy team's backfield, was twice an All-Big Eight selection.

There's Joe Moore, the only regular returning to the back-field. Moore, a 205-pound senior from St. Louis rushed for 1,312 yards in 10 games last year to rank third in the nation. Moore needs only 335 yards to break the all-time career rushing record of 2,030 set by Bob Steuber in 1940-1942. Then there's Mel Gray, the 173-pound speedster who set new Missouri standards for most reception yardage in a season (705) and one game (171), plus most touchdown catches (nine) and most average yards a catch (27.1).

Namath Due In Jet Camp

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) -The welcome mat is out for Joe Namath.

The controversial star quarterback of the New York Jets was scheduled to report to the Jets' training camp today.

The colorful quarterback who led the Jets to their stunning Super Bowl victory over the Baltimore Colts two years ago, has been AWOL from the camp at Hofstra University, but underwent a physical examination Monday and a Jet spokesman anounced he would report today.

Stockton Breaks In 'Top Ten'

NEW YORK (AP) - Dave Stockton, who captured the Professional Golfers Association title Sunday, edged into the top 10 in money winnings, according to figures released by the PGA Monday.

Stockton topped Arnold Palmer by two strokes at Tulsa, Okla., firing a 72-hole total of 279 and earning the $40,000 first prize. It moved the 28-year-old Californian from 27th place to No. 10 with earnings in 1970 of $97,496.

Palmer, who won $18,500, went over the $100,000 mark for the fifth successive year and moved from ninth to sixth place with $112,869. The leader is Jack Nicklaus with $134,660.

Following Nicklaus are Bruce Crampton, $126,175; Lee Trevino, $122,456; Frank Beard, $119,846; Dick Lotz, $114,814; Palmer; Billy Casper, $107,585; Dave Hill, $100,596; Bruce Devlin, $97,906; and Stockton.

In the point standings, awarded on tournament finishes, Crampton took the lead from Beard with 1,177.6 points. Trevino is next with 1,158.6, followed by Beard, 1,157.9; Bob Lunn, 1,129.9; Larry Hinson, 1,053.2; Homero Blancas, 1,037.1; Stockton, 1,028.8; Hill, 976.5; Miller Barber, 969.5; and Lotz, 948.0.

We have a lot of work to do to make up for lost time," Ewbank continued. "We'll have to see how Joe's legs react to setting up this week.

We know that in the past setting up bothers his knees, especially the first couple of weeks."

There was no comment from Namath who only a few weeks ago had declared, "I don't want to play football any more.'

The former Alabama star from Beaver Falls, Pa., has undergone surgery on both of his knees and he endures constant pain on the field.

"Joe's main problem has been the knees," said a friend who declined use of his name. "He's worried about them. He also has other personal problems which he doesn't want to go into.'

Charlie Moore, left, and C. E. Baldwin, were among the first six place finishers in the Missouri Valley AAU 20-Mile run Championship held Saturday evening in Columbia. Baldwin, only a sophomore at Smith-Cotton, was third in the punishing event, won by Kansas City international distance runner Carl Owalsky, whose time was 2 hours, 2 minutes and 34 seconds. Baldwin's time was 2 hours 18 minutes and 20 seconds. Moore captured six place with a time of 2 hours 54 minutes and 31 seconds. #### OFFENSE

PASSING-Expect tall Steve Tensi and his mended back to return to regular season, but that's no guarantee of anything. He yielded to Pete Liske couple of times last season. Pete doesn't have Steve's strong arm. And young Al Pastrana merely fills out cast. Rating—C

RECEIVING-No shortage. You start with Al Denson, among class of league. Can pick from Mike Haffner, John Embree, Billy Van Heusen and ace rookie Jerry Hendren to be his deep running mate. In even-up swap of tight ends, Jim Whalen (ex-Patriot) replaced Tom Beer at tight end. Not big, but he's more threat as receiver. Rating-B

RUNNING-When Floyd Little was healthy, Broncs' condition as team was likewise. Old Bowlegs (straighten him out and he'd be 6-3) was superb last year when able to play (barely more than half time). Now they've added Bob Anderson, Colorado All-American, who'll be either his mate or support, and Willis Crenshaw, former Cardinal who has had some great moments as pro. Fran Lynch is steady fill-in. Rating-B

LINE—Greatest attribute is togetherness. No change for three years now in basic unit, which features underrated Larry Kaminski at center. George Goeddeke, former Notre Damer, has best chance to achieve star rating at guard. Important feature is that starters are all young and should get better. Rating-B

DEFENSE

LINE—They can tear up a team which relaxes. Rich Jackson at end and Dave Costa at tackle don't have many equals as pass rushers. The other end, Pete Duranko, comes on strong, too. And there's a backup rookie named Alden Roche they like. Other tackle slot is filled by any of three vets-most likely Paul Smith. Rating-B+

LINEBACKING-Pretty well set with John Huard in middle, Carl Cunningham and Chip Myrtle on corners. Not really blue-chippers, but they'll surprise you with spirited play. Are mobile enough, too. And they're getting the feel of playing together. Rating-B

SECONDARY-Broncs struck it rich last year with rookies Bill Thompson and Grady Carness on corners. Thompson was AFL sensation and now a serious threat for all-pro consideration. Another rookie, George Burrell, moved into safety job. And Charley Greer, a soph, rounded out quartet. Now for injection of experience, Paul Martha was acquired from Steelers as safety bolster. Rating—B

KICKING-Got that Denver altitude to help them but not enough foot. Bobby Howfield of England was inconsistent as placekicker, may give way to ex-Redskin Charley Gogolak, who's slow off tee. End Van Heusen doubles as capable punter. Rating B-

Fear of Poor Crops Creates Price Hikes

CHICAGO (AP) — A strong possibility that this year's corn crop could fall seriously short of needs because of a fungus infestation spurred the maximum allowed price advance in five different commodity futures on the Chicago Board of Trade Mon-

Veteran traders and members er day when so many futures had a limit price move in one session. Records available at the board failed to show any other such concerted move in

The bull move was linked to reports that from 10 to 25 per cent, and perhaps more, of this year's corn crop might be lost because of an outbreak of a fungus known as southern corn leaf

In the corn pit here, opening bids to buy were at 8 cents above the previous close. This is as much as corn prices can move in one direction during options froze at this level for want of sellers.

The same trading pattern followed in the oats pit. Oats also is a feed grain and these futures generally reflect the moves in

In the wheat pit, prices opened from 7 to 10 cents highbut soon all five options attained the limit for a day. It was the same in the soybeans pit on the opening and within minutes all seven options were at the permissible price limit for one session. Soybean meal prices took some 30 minutes to hit the $5 limit for one session in the five deferred options. The two nearby options were just under the limit at the close.

The reasoning back of the buying was this:

The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimated last week that as of July 1 the corn crop probably would total around 4.7 billion bushels. If the infestation in the South and Midwest resulted one session. Prices in all five in a loss of say, 15 per cent, this down to around 4 billion bushels. Usage, including domestic demand and exports, is expected to total around 4.5 billion bushels, thus the supply would not meet demands. The demand, then, would increase for oats and wheat, as feed for livestock and poultry. More soybeans probably would be crushed for meal.

Julius Meyer, former board chairman, said that while the extent of any damage to the crop is not yet fully known, if there is a loss of say, 700 million bushels "this could mean $1.75 and more for corn to the farmer."

Another broker - member thought a crop of 4 billion bushels would mean farmers could get $2 a bushel.

The last time farmers obtained more than $2 a bushel for their corn in the Chicago area was in 1953, when the price touched $2.12.

McGovern Gives Warning Of Presidential Powers

George McGovern charged today the Nixon administration has created a climate of fear to muzzle the press, and warned unchecked presidential access to television could bring oneman rule.

"What we are witnessing is an incredible paradox in which the administration seeks to silence its critics in the media while exploiting the use of the media for its own message to an unprecedented degree," McGovern said.

McGovern, the subject Monday of an attack by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew for his sponsorship of the "amendment to end the war," said Agnew appears to be saying: "If you disagree with the message, choke the messenger."

Says Blood Pressure Treatment Justified

erans Administration heart specialist says new evidence justifies extending potentially life-saving drug treatment for high blood pressure to millions who suffer only mild or moderate cases

Dr. Edward Freis reported Monday the world's first comprehensive evidence that drug treatment for high blood pressure-known to be life-saving in many severe cases-also is highly beneficial in mild and moderate cases.

Specifically, evidence shows such drugs can cut death rates sharply and reduce or essentially eliminate certain serious complications, said Freis who is with the Washington, D.C., VA Hospital.

The new evidence was obtained, he said, during a fiveyear cooperative study conducted among 380 male patients at 16 of VA's 166 hospitals throughout the country.

High blood pressure-technically known as hypertensionaffects at least 20 million Americans, and is the second most

WASHINGTON (AP)-A Vet- common cause of death in the United States. Most suffer mild or moderate cases. But he said that use of readily available drugs to treat them has been a subject of medical controversy, despite striking benefits demonstrated for more severe cases. At least half of the mild and moderate cases fall in the potentially dangerous categorywhich could lead to death or serious complications such as congestive heart failure or cerebral strokes, Freis said. The doctor said only about 15 per cent are on effective drug treatment.

He listed two reasons: -Many doctors have been reluctant to use the drugs for mild or moderate cases-for fear of adverse side-effects. But Freis said the new VA studies have demonstrated beneficial effects of the daily dosages outweigh the undesirable ones. All too many patients don't take their malady seriously after a doctor tells them they fall in the mild or moderate catego-ing, what he has done to the media, helping reform itself ... I think they've taken a second look. You can't underestimate the power of fear. They're afraid if they don't shape up

"They seem to believe that the simple fact that on one day in November 1968 Mr. Nixon and Mr. Agnew received the support of 43 per cent of the voters means that they should be favored by the media for the next four years," McGovern

"In effect, they are saying that democracy exists only on election day and that the interplay of opinion that characterizes democracy should be suspended the rest of the time.'

McGovern said that from his own viewpoint, the press has been amazingly tolerant toward Nixon, accepting his explana-tion of the Cambodian incursions, not pressing as to why the "much publicized" Communist headquarters was not captured, not questioning Viet Cong body counts "which by now should have killed the entire enemy at least six times.'

Television networks, Mc-Govern said, have given Nixon 14 prime-time broadcasts in his first 18 months in office, "exactly the same number of such major appearances as President Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson together had in their 16 years in office.'

'We are in danger of moving toward one-man arbitrary rule. if the Congress fails to reassert its constitutional powers in the area of war and peace and if we do not find a workable formula to find a better television balance between President and Congress," McGovern said.

For the sequence on the TV screen, and Val, she worked two days from showing Mrs. Laologi, announcer Ken 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. in a maze of Allen and her two youngsters, Angela cameras, lights and 31 technicians.

How Housewives Become Television Personalities

The scene is a backyard, in Hawthorne, California. There in the morning sun with two-yearold Angela at her side, baby Val's crib in the background and dozens of technicians swarming around her, Lynda Laologi is about to make her transition from everyday wife and mother to television personality. As the cameras grind away, this attractive brunette joins the elite ranks of housewives who have become familiar faces to hundreds of thousands of viewers across the country.

In recent years television has come to rely more and more on the use of real-life individuals. rather than the actresses who used to portray mothers and grandmothers to talk about products. Now these are mothers and grandmothers there on the screen, and they're chosen because they can portray themselves, using their own words, without getting stage fright.

As one director says, "The moment you tell a non-actress say about any particular product."

Several weeks later the agency asked Mrs. Laologi if they could come to her house and take some pictures of her "for possible use in advertising." Ten days after that the big call came. "Would I do a television commercial and say the same things I'd told them before? I said, 'Of course!' "But," Mrs. Laologi recalls,

"I was totally unprepared for what happened on the day when a crew of 31 technicians arrived at 7:30 in the morning and unloaded all their cameras, lights and other equipment in my back yard. They were so organized they even brought along their own food truck and set up folding tables outside in the front yard. And they invited the neighbors and all their kids to join us for lunch. Even our trash collector stopped by!"

For the less than 60 seconds that she's seen on the television screen the shooting took two full days. "They even had a makeup man and a hairdresser there for me. It was the first time I'd ever seen a real curling iron! And it was funny to hear a director in my back yard shouting, 'Cut!' and 'It's a take!' just like in the movies."

Mrs. Laologi was given her script the day before. "After all I had told them about how the soap works on whites and work clothes and colored fabrics, it seems strange to see my own words condensed to just a few lines — and they checked me to make sure these were what I had said. I used to think that those real-life spokeswomen were told what they had to say, but I discovered that everything that's said and shown must be true. I even had to do that entire laundry of dirty T-shirts, corduroys, children's play clothes and towels right there. There was one legal-type gentleman whose job was to make sure that the clothes were dirty and that they went right from the washer to the clothesline that's shown in the television crew included a hairdresser. "It was the first time I'd seen a real curling iron," said Mrs. Laologi. Right, the crew brought along a food truck and set up tables in the front yard. "They even asked the she's on camera and to just act natural, it's amazing how 'unnatural' she becomes. It's human nature — just look at the way we all act when someone aims a snapshot camera at us!

The average homemaker who's tapped for one of these on-camera assignments usually goes through two days of excitement the likes of which she's never known before.

Mrs. Laologi tells how it happened to her. "A few months ago my sister-in-law was telephoned by a market research firm that told her she'd be paid $5 for her time if she'd come and be interviewed about her preferences in laundry products. I went along with her to a hall where dozens of women were being interviewed, and they asked me to take part in the survey, too.

"When they asked what detergent I use and why, I told them Cold Power because it cleaned my family's whole laundry better than any other detergent I'd tried.
"After the rest of the questions, another gentleman

— I didn't know who he was tape-recorded my voice. I found out afterwards that he was a top executive with the advertising agency for Cold Power, but they weren't allowed to influence your replies by letting you know n advance that they were interested in what you might
